Prologue

The average lifespan of a human is 80 years.

No matter how long of a life a human lives they can't go past 120.

However, right here, there was a person who had lived a good life of 3500 years.

What everyone viewed as eternal life and immortality, he only saw it as a curse.

The desire to end his life no matter what had existed since he was 1000 years old.

That kind of person, one day suddenly became awake.

Then he started muttering.

“I have to go to the far east.”

Not knowing what kind of dream he dreamt, or the reason. In that way the man dragged his body onto a plane heading towards Incheon.

The feeling was as if something was guiding him.
